三、閱讀測驗【請依照段落上下文意，選出最適當的答案】

41 至 45 題請參考以下段落

The link between conditions in the womb and breast cancer is very surprising. The very 41 of the disease is bad enough. What terrifies women is that it strikes so many who have no 42 factor—such as age, close relatives with the disease or not bearing a child before 30. Dr. Karin Michels of the Harvard School of Public Health has identified one overlooked cause. 43 collecting health data from tens of thousands of nurses, Michels and colleagues reported in 1997 that women who had weighed about 5.5 pounds at birth had half the risk of breast cancer 44 women who had weighed about 9 pounds at birth. That was especially true of breast cancer in women aged 50 45 younger. “There is increasing evidence,” says Michels, “that breast cancer may originate before birth.”

46 至 50 題請參考以下段落

How good is a hospital? Many criteria come into play—the reputation of the physicians, or how well 46 a facility is, or the quality of food and patient services. As health care becomes more a global enterprise, 47 patients going farther afield in pursuit of the best care, the need for an objective measure of hospital performance has become more pressing. Fortunately there is a yardstick that applies equally well to the most luxurious tourist hospital in Thailand and the most basic NGO-run facility in Africa, and everything___ 48 ___. Most countries are required by law to keep track of how many patients live and how many die. Once these ___ 49 statistics are adjusted for factors such as the age of the patients, the diagnoses, and the severity of the illnesses, they can provide a measure in black and white of how well a hospital is managing the performance of its physicians. ___ 50 ___ the medical profession has put up some resistance to efforts to measure, and publicize, hospital performance in this way, in recent years doctors have been collecting these data on a growing list of hospitals around the world.
